Who Am I?

My name is Julia Martinez, I'm currently attending Queens College, and majoring in BFA Design. Although before Queens College I had majored in Animation and Fine Arts at another school, which was located in Buffalo.

Majoring in these courses have let me grow as an artist. I enjoy creating through different medias. When I'm not drawing, I like to spend the time on writing, mostly poems and stories. I've learned many softwares and different medias of studio art. I enjoy creating new pieces and having different options in techniques and media, however I was more drawn to animation and story. I'm currently working on a new project that have inspired me through my previous works and what I've learned throughout.

Pop Art - Keeping It Classy

This series was done in Adobe Illustrator. This was a project from a design class where we had to create a pop image using only three colors. I chose a portrait of my sister and chose her three favorite colors. Each picture has the same color scheme. I alternated the placement of the color hues. Allowing to create a different color effect in each.
